

Kurage, table design Nichetto + Nendo 2015

FOSCARINI

A new lightweight, poetic, handcrafted project has emerged from the joint efforts of Italian designer Luca Nichetto and the multidisciplinary working group Nendo founded by Japanese architect Oki Sato - the new Kurage table lamp. In Japanese kurage means jellyfish and the lamp does in fact resemble a sea animal which dances through the seas cradled by a suffused light, obtained thanks to the use of the finest Japanese washi paper. The diffuser is then simply rested onto a transparent structure designed specifically to ensure it is shadow free. Kurage is made thanks to a very particular workmanship technique that is based on the manufacturing of 3D washi paper. Obtained from mulberry tree fibres, washi paper is both smooth and porous and filters the light creating a relaxing, cosy and emotional atmosphere. Four slender natural coloured ashwood legs finish off the lamp together with a white ceramic lamp holder and an electric cable covered in a paper fibre sock.

Nichetto + Nendo

Luca Nichetto was born in Venice in 1976 where he graduated in Industrial Design. In 2006 he founded his studio, Nichetto&Partners, that deals with Design Consultant as well as Industrial Design. He held workshops in different universities in Italy and abroad and he takes part to exhibition in Europe, United States and Japan. Nendo is a design firm founded in 2002 in Tokyo, with architect Oki Sato as its principal. The firm realizes its goal of bringing small surprises to people through a multidisciplinary practice whose media include architecture, interiors, furniture, industrial products and graphic design. Nendo opened their Milan office in 2005, and have achieved international recognition for their award-winning designs for European manufacturers including Cappellini, De Padova, Kartell, Foscarini, Boffi and Triade.
