

Plass media, table design Luca Nichetto 2015

FOSCARINI

Plass Media transports the great appeal, exciting presence and magical luminosity of Plass – a project that as its name suggests is a combination of plastic and glass – into a smaller dimension. The familiar image of a Murano pearl is interpreted on a different scale, using a 21st century material and process: rotationally moulded polycarbonate. As a result of the technology used, the finishes have slight irregularities that recall the imperfections of glass, underlined by the dual light source. Plass resembles a glass pearl hit by the sun's rays, but here the light comes from within, rather than from outside, refracted by the incisions on the surface. The unique effect it produces is even more immediate and usable in the new Plass Media lamp, available in table and suspension versions and suitable for medium-sized spaces.
